

Check Out What's Happening at NACCHO Annual Next Week

On July 9-11, local health department staff and their partners from around the country will gather at NACCHO Annual in Orlando, FL, to share their experiences and best practices for addressing the health of their communities. There will be several sessions related to HIV, STI, viral hepatitis, and adolescent sexual health, which are listed below. The bolded sessions indicate those in which NACCHO staff are speaking. These sessions will provide great opportunities to learn about how other jurisdictions consider and respond to challenges in the field, as well as to network with colleagues from across the country.
